

eVision Systems and i2S signed a partnership agreement

Munich, Germany, January 8, 2024 - i2S, headquartered in Bordeaux, France, specialized in image capture and processing solutions, signed a Partnership agreement with eVision Systems GmbH, a German company renowned for their development and sales of Video Interfaces under the AIVION brand.

This strategic alliance is set to leverage the unique strengths of both organizations, combining i2S's cutting-edge image processing capabilities with eVision Systems GmbH's long-standing experience in the video business. This partnership is poised to develop innovative solutions, enhancing the service range and quality offered to clients across diverse industries such as automotive, healthcare, industrial vision, UAV, robotics, and surveillance.

Xavier Datin, CEO of i2S, highlighted the strategic importance of this collaboration: “The partnership will help us grow our Service Business in Central Europe since eVision Systems has been working for a long term in the video business. Their team has an excellent understanding of customer needs and the technology that we can bring to meet those needs with a complete solution, design and manufacturing, across the whole life cycle of the product.”

Michael Geissel, Director of Video Business at eVision Systems, shared his enthusiasm about the partnership: “This partnership will allow us to support our customers with a wider range of technology to ensure that they can find the best possible solution for their video integration projects. I am very pleased to cooperate with I2S as we will be able to expand our offering of video interfaces and to provide a wider portfolio of services from specification to a final product to our video customers,” eVision Systems will continue to offer its own technology under the AIVION branding but also sell services and technology from I2S, including products offered under the Twiga brand name.
